Aging in a Digital World Call for Poster Abstracts

The Aging in a Digital World conference is focused on identifying gaps in research, technology and policy that are delaying the adoption of innovations to support aging in a digital world. We seek poster abstracts on topics related to the conference's subject matter of aging, technology, and health care policy research.

Early Application Deadline: Feb. 5, 2020
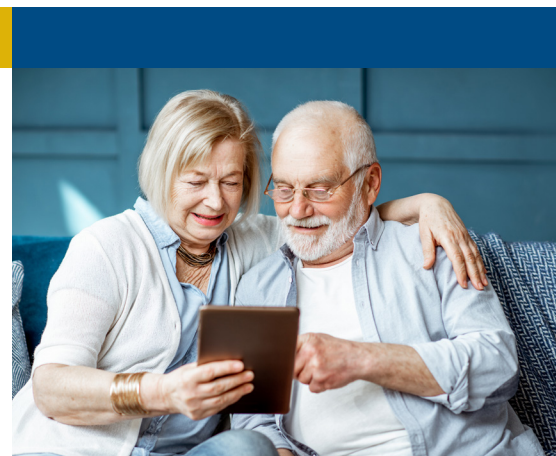

Final Application Deadline: Feb. 15, 2020

Subject Matter Themes

- New models of care and health promotion for older adults and family caregivers.

- Challenges to implementing new models of care and health promotion for older adults and family caregivers.

- Technology development for aging populations.

- Novel methods for clinical research and innovation for aging and technology.

- Evidence-based digital health solutions for older adults in all care settings, including the home.

- Relevant public policy issues.
